Title: Finding the Key to Open the Door of My Destiny:
a Travel from Analysis to Integrable System

Abstract:

For many years, I have been working on the nonlinear mean field equations and gradually have found many mysterious connection with algebraic geometry and modular forms. But in the September of the last year, I just realized that the position of my research is crossing to the integrable systems. This is my most important step in my whole career of research and through it, I realize how beautiful of this universe although I just saw a tip of it.
